ROBBERS CAUGHT

SALT LAKE, Dec. 26.-Six men supposed to be the perpetrators of the numerous grocery store burglaries that have been committed during the last month, were arrested at midnight Sunday while in the act of looting the store of Lyon & Richardson, 357-9 South West Temple street. One member of the gang escaped by leaping from the porch of the second floor of the building. Additional members of the gang are supposed to be in the jail charged with vagrancy, as the men who are under arrest are recog-

When a Baby - Hair All Came Out-Always Scratching - Mother Got Cuticura and He was Cured After 3 Years of Disease.

"My son was about four months old hen he was taken with dreadful eczema. I had four different doctors but they could not help him. The hair all came out and his face was totally covered. His all came out and his face was totally covered. His eyes were shut and we thought be would go blind. His limbs and body were also affected. He was always scratching; I had to keep his little hands tied down and he seemed to have a great deal of pain. We did not know what to do. I used to get sick handling him, from the way the corruption was always running.

"But I got some Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and in a week or ten days I could see the cruption drying up and before long he was cured, after about three years of the terrible disease. Now he is nineteen years old and has not a sign of the old trouble. You see I learned to save three-quarters of the doctors' bills by using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I will recommend either to any one and advise them to use them and receive a safe, speedy cure. Veteran Actor's Good Story of the Theatrical Manager and the Evangelist.

"I lunched in London with Charles Klein, the dramatist and author of The Third Degree' and 'The Lion and the Mouse," said a veteran actor in New York. "Klein was the hero of the London papers just then. He had gotten into a taxicab one morning and said calmiv to the chauffeur, 'Edinburgh.' It was a trip of a thousand miles-the taxicab record. Naturally, afterward." the actor continued, "our conversation turned to advertising. Klein told me an interesting case. While he was conversing with a theatrical manager in London one day an evangelist was shown in. 'My dear sir,' said the evangelist to the theatrical manager, 'I am taking notes and gathering material for a lecture on the evils of the stage. I hear that "The Blonde Widow," your present attraction, is decidedly-a-hem-sensational. May I ask for a ticket of admismen. Among the other articles in the sion that I may gauge its immorality personally? The theatrical manager beamed with delight. Why, certainly, sir, certainly,' he cried, and turning to his secretary, he said: 'Rutherford, give this gentleman an order for a proscenium box, and charge it to advertising."

FIRES THAT ARE SLEEPING Range of Eight Great Volcanoes Near

Lake Albert Edward in Central

Africa. It is not very generally known that right in the heart of Africa at the southern end of Lake Albert Edward is a great range of volcanoes. They are eight in number, and, though it is true that, unlike Rukenzor, they carry no permanent snow, the highest peak is over fourteen thousand feet in height. These volcanoes are particularly interesting on account of their comparative neweness. Running through the middle of Africa there is a trench many hundred miles long, in which lie the great lakes Albert

Edward, Kivu and Tanganyika. Not very many thousands of years ago, the volcanoes, generally called Mfumbiro, burst through the middle of this trench and made a dam across it, with the result that some of the water, which formerly flowed into Lake Albert Edward and so into the Nile, was cut off and a lake was formed behind the dam. As times went on the waters of the lake which is now called Kivu rose higher and higher, until, not being able to flow over the barrier of the volcanoes. they formed the Rusisi river, which runs the other way into Tanganyika, about 100 miles distant. Of the eight volcanoes only two show signs of activity at the present time, in the form of thin wisps of steam which may occasionally be seen; but a vast plain of lava with a wide black stream curling through its midst, showed where a formidable eruption had taken place only two or three years before our visit. There are hot springs scat tered here and there, and we felt slight shocks of earthquakes once or twice, so it is not safe to say that the Mfumbiro volcanoes are extinct-Wide World Magazine.

Pride of Opinion.

Pride of opinion is perhaps the most common fault of us fairly educated and intelligent moderns. We form our judgments and then, as it were, defy anyone to change them. It is said that no one has ever been converted by abstract argument.

At the time of the great disaster in Martinique, the Italian bark Orsolina was taking on a cargo of sugar there. Her captain was accustomed to volcanoes and he did not like the appear ance of Mont Pelee. Not half his cargo was on board, but he decided to sail for home.

"The volcano is all right," argued the shippers. "Finish your loading." "I don't know anything about Mont Pelee," said the captain, "but if Ve-auvius looked that way I's get out of Naples, and I'm going to get right out of here." The shippers threatened him with arrest. They sent customs officers to detain him, but the captain persisted in leaving. Twenty-four hours later the shippers and the customs officers lay dead in the ruins of St. Pierre .-Kate Upson Clark, in the Christian Herald

SQUAW KEEPS LONG VIGIL

Indian Brave's Helpmeet Watched Three Days and Two Nights Without Food or Water.

To remain for three days and two nights on the desert keeping weird vigil beside her dead was the pathetic lot of Ulalia Boniface, whose brave was accidentally killed by the discharge of a shotgun. The accident occurred far out on the desert. Miners, attracted by the squaw's wailing. found her standing beside the body, her two small children asleep near by A long ride was made to the near est telephone point and Coroner C D. Van Wie notified. The long, rough ride over the mountains and desert occupied three days and nights. At some stages it required three hours to cover a mile, so steep were the grades or so deep the desert sands. Long before he arrived in sight of the corpse the squaw's wailing as she chanted the dirges of the Plute were heard. In the gray of the morning the coroner reached the body. The sight of the woman standing at the foot of her dead brave, her black hair flying in the breeze, presented a dolorous picture, heightened by the chant of the dirge.

The squaw had broken all the brave's crockery against a tree, had flattened out his spoons and forks and other utensils on the rocks and had staked the two horses near the body, prepared to slay them over his grave. During the long vigil the woman had taken nourishment of no kind and would only eat after the body had been covered in the ground.

NEW USE FOUND FOR SNAKES

in Ohio Discovers Them Clearing the Potato Bugs From His Patch.

Farmers in various sections of the country have for a number of years declared snakes that are non-poisonous are very valuable to the farmers. They say the reptiles are very good at catching field mice, rats and even the frisky ground squirrels that are so very destructive to fields of newly planted grain.

But the latest use for the ugly reptiles has just been discovered in Harrison county. Ohio, a few miles east of the bistoric town of Cadiz, where Charles Albright, who is farming the lands of Samuel K. McLaughlin, found a garter snake eating potato bugs.

Albright was out in the field destroying the bugs, which are quite plentiful, and coming upon a snake coiled up in a potato plant, he secured a club and killed it. In a few mo ments be discovered the top of another potato plant swaying back and forth, and looking closely, discovered another snake of the same variety coiled up in the branches of the thrifty plant. He was interested to know why these reptiles should be occupying such a strange position, and after watching for a short time he saw the snake pick off and devour dozens of the troublesome potato bugs. He did not kill the reptile, and he says he will not allow any of these snakes to be harmed on the land he has charge of. for he thinks they have become very useful.

DANNY'S HUNT COST $110

New York Sportsman's Great Dane Puppy Selected Farmer's Sheep for His Game.

A well known New York sportsman, president of a kennel club, had a dachshund and an Ir' setter which were great friends. They were fond of roaming about the fields together. and took great interest in hunting rabbits. Whenever they caught one the Irish setter, true to his retrieving instincts, carried it home, and, being suitably rewarded, felt that he was a skilled and veteran hunter. A short time ago Carl Hagenbeck, who, when in this country, had made the sportsman's acquaintance, sent him as a gift a handsome Great Dane puppy about four months old. The pup was a blg wabbly fellow, all feet, good natured and ready for the game, whatever it might be. He was more than willing to make friends with Doxy and Paddy, and soon they permitted him to join in their hunting trips. He learned the game easily, and in a short time rather small fry for him, and he decided to do a little hunting on his to own account. In his enthusiasm he set out alone one night, and 'here is the result," said the sportsman mournfully, showing the friend to whom he was telling the tale a bill for $110. "This bill," he continued, "was sent me by an enraged farmer, a neighbor of mine. Danny is an enthusiastic hunter. He broke into this farmer's field and killed 22 sheep, and there is nothing for me to do but pay the bill. Oh, yes, I'm proud of Danny's hunting abilities. All they need is a little directing.
